But when Rosie O'Donnell's 17-yearold daughter, Chelsea, went missing from the family's Nyack, N.Y., home on Aug. 11, the former TV host waited a week to ask for the public's help in locating her. During those harrowing days, Rosie tweeted about Donald Trump and asked Caitlyn Jenner for a dinner date. "Any normal parent wouldn't have been able to sleep until their daughter was found," says a source. "Social media would be the last thing on their mind."

Thankfully, Chelsea — who suffers from mental illness and hadn't been taking her medication — was found safe in New Jersey on Aug. 18, but she was staying with a 25-year-old ex-con whom she'd met on the casual-hookup app Tinder. She had apparently left her family home voluntarily, and police said she didn't want to go home.

MAD AT MOM

According to sources close to Rosie, 53, the star's relationship with her adopted daughter has long been troubled — and it was Rosie's decision to send Chelsea away to boarding school at age 12 that irrevocably damaged their relationship. "Chelsea is by no means an easy child, but when things got tough, Rosie just paid someone else to deal with her," says a family source. "That only made things worse."

Chelsea's biological mother, Deanna

Micoley — whom the teen has been in contact with since November — reiterated the same sentiment in March. "Chelsea has told me that she had issues with Rosie," Deanna said. "I believe Rosie has abandoned her." One of the birth mom's friends adds: "Deanna blames Rosie for Chelsea disappearing."

FROM ROSIE

The comedian — who has four other children, Parker, 20, Blake, 15, Vivienne, 12, and Dakota, 2 — is currently embroiled in a bitter custody battle with her estranged wife, Michelle Rounds, over their youngest child. Michelle has alleged that Rosie drank a bottle of wine almost every night, used marijuana and let Parker throw alcohol-fueled parties when he was just 19. "I wouldn't be surprised if that was part of the reason Rosie wanted to keep Chelsea's disappearance quiet," the insider says. "A situation like this doesn't paint Rosie in a good light." ★

THE MAN WHO HID HER

While Rosie and her first wife, Kelli Carpenter — Chelsea's other mom — breathed a sigh of relief when their daughter was found safe, their fears mounted when they learned about the man whose attic Chelsea and her dog discovered hiding in. Steven Sheerer (left) was arrested in 2012 for heroin possession with intent

Still, cops found no drugs in the house and said Chelsea, who was there by choice, was lucid and cooperative.

— JOHNSTAMOS — RELAPSE FEARS

After his June 12 DUI arrest and subsequent month in rehab, John Stamos insists he's a brand-new man. But considering he's still hitting the town, producers behind both his upcoming sitcom Grandfathered and the Full House reboot are worried that old habits die hard.

"John still loves going out with his buddies, even though he doesn't drink. But as an alcoholic, he's tempting fate," a friend says. "His bosses want him to cut some of these guys out and focus on sobriety, but John said he's not throwing his friends under the bus just to make them happy."

But the stakes may be higher than simply pleasing network execs. "John is 52, and these shows are either going to prove he's a relevant, vital actor...or push him into has-been territory," advises the insider. "It's a crucial time in John's life." *

A source reveals that just a few months after getting breast implants, the 65-year-old reality star wants fat transfers to boost her flat fanny! "It's not about being sexy; it is about fully presenting as female," an insider tells Star. "If she could, she'd make herself shorter, with smaller feet and hands. But she can't, so she has to nip and tuck what she can."

Caitlyn, who has reportedly already had a brow lift, a jaw reduction, a tracheal shave, a nose job, multiple face-lifts and lip injections, is excited to add some more curves. "Caitlyn's goal is to wear a bikini with pride," says the friend. "She doesn't want to have to rely on wraparound dresses to give her shape anymore. She wants the real thing!"

Star DISH Miley Cyrus' 15-year-old sister, Noah, is hitting the Hollywood party scene like a wrecking ball — and no one in her fame-hungry family seems to care. While her peers were stressing about back to school and homecoming, Star spotted Noah hitting Bootsy Bellows nightclub on Aug. 9 to celebrate Kylie Jenner's 18th birthday, clad in a skin-baring crop top, a blonde wig and dark-blue lipstick. But absent as usual were her parents, Tish and Billy Ray Cyrus. "Billy Ray wants Noah to be as famous as Miley," admits the family friend. Forget good genes. Victoria Beckham's pinthin frame seems to be the result of a bizarre eating habit. A server at a local restaurant in Brentwood, Calif., reveals that Victoria, 41, can be very picky when it comes to food and refuses to eat until she knows how many calories are in a dish. And even then, "eating" isn't exactly the best way to describe her tableside behavior.

"She chewed her food to get a taste, and then placed a napkin up to her mouth to spit it out," shares the waiter. When David asked for the check, she excused herself to the restroom and

WHAT'S UP WITH CHEW, VIC? Despite a 23-inch waist, Victoria has always insisted that she "eats like a pig" and has "an incredibly fast metabolism" - but not even her family knows the truth. A source close to the ex-Spice Girl says, "Victoria's been thin her whole life, but if she hides her eating habits from her four kids and David's the only one who knows, then that's a problem." *

N March, Mira Pak secretly filed for divorce from husband Terrence Howard while pregnant with their son, Qirin, citing irreconcilable differences. As for what went wrong, sources tell Star it was the actor's notoriously volatile temper that destroyed his two-year marriage to Mira, 38. "Terrence is hell to live with," says an insider. His neighbor agrees.

"Terrence and Mira had screaming matches all the time," she tells Star exclusively. "There were nights when it kept me up. Didn't Mira know before marrying him that he was insane? I never called the police [because] it was scary to think about what Terrence would do [to me] if he found out. He's a loose cannon, you know?"

Unfortunately, it's a side of the Empire star, 46, that each of his former spouses has come to know very well. Terrence's second wife Michelle Ghent, 36, filed for a restraining order against him twice: in 2011, less than a week into their marriage, and in 2013 after he allegedly punched her, choked her and threatened her life with a knife. During their divorce proceedings, texts sent by Terrence were made public, painting an even darker picture. "I will never allow a restraining order to keep you from me," he warned.

Terrence's first wife faced a similar fate. In 2001, Lori McCommas and her estranged ex got into a heated argument over the phone. "Don't disrespect me by hanging up or I'll come over and hurt you," Terrence reportedly threatened. When Lori, 44, did just that, he allegedly made good on his promise, driving to her home, kicking down the door and punching her three times, twice in the face. "Terrence can be set off by the smallest trigger," the source explains. "He expects his women to do what he wants, when he wants, or he turns into a monster." *

The blue-eyed heartthrob began dating the Vanderpump Rules star, 32, back in May, but the eyewitness says they've watched Captain Kirk escort at least five lucky ladies to his quarters, even daring to hold hands with a few of them. "As soon as Vail leaves, another woman enters," the source reveals. "It's like Chris' place has a revolving door!" Sounds like distance doesn't always make the heart grow fonder. *

ORE than 50 women have accused Bill Cosby of sexual assault, but his wife, Camille, has stood by him, and it appears to be paying off. "Bill is pulling out all the stops to buy her silence," says a source, "even if it costs him a chunk of his $400 million fortune." According to insiders, Camille, 71, has been on a plastic-melting splurge ever since the accusations against Bill, 78, started pouring in — treating herself to limos, presidential suites, helicopters trips, jewels. "He is in no position to complain," says the source. Not even when Camille commandeers the couple's $22 million, 12-passenger private jet, leaving him with the much older, smaller plane. "She spends what she wants," says the insider. "Although he did balk a little at the $40,000 she blew on a Birkin bag."

Alicia Tells Michael: THE PARTY'S OVER

While reports suggest that Michael Fassbender and Alicia Vikander's relationship is on the rocks because of conflicting work commitments, Star has learned the real reason: the actress, 26, is fed up with her boyfriend's nonstop partying. The Light Between Oceans costars fell in love last year on the Australian set of their upcoming drama, but according to sources, once cameras stopped rolling, Michael, 38, started to let loose. "Alicia knows Michael likes to have his fun. but she had no idea just how much," says an insider. "With Michael, life is basically a 24-hour freefor-all. He's constantly boozing, smoking cigarettes, hopping from one party to the next. He says he's just having fun, but Alicia's getting bored with it." ★

Liam SMaika GETTING SERIOUS

Talk about fireworks! After Independence Day: Resurgence costars Liam Hemsworth and Maika Monroe were spotted getting cozy at a July 4 party thrown by the film's director, Roland Emmerich, sources tell Star the pair are falling in love with each other. "Liam and Maika are inseparable. They've already been caught kissing off-camera quite a few times," says an insider close to the on-screen love interests. While the Aussie actor, 25, hasn't been in a serious relationship since calling off his 15-month engagement to Miley Cyrus back in 2013, Liam has been telling friends that Maika, 22, is unlike anyone he's ever met before. "He can see a real future with her," the pal says. "Of course, Liam's not getting down on bended knee anytime soon, but there's no doubt that they care for each other. They're both excited to see where it goes." *

TOM HANKS' DRUG ADDICT SON FALLS OFF THE RADAR FOR A MONTH — LEAVING HIS FRIENDS AND FAMILY TO FEAR THE WORST.

Star Exclusive

N late July, Chet Hanks—the 24-year-old son of Hollywood heavyweight Tom Hanks and actress Rita Wilson — posted a strange video to his Instagram account, in which he supplied both sides of a conversation while riding in a car: "Chet, do you ever feel like talking to yourself, it's kind of weird.... No, I fking don't, why would I do that?... I don't know, I'm just saying, I'm just asking.... I don't fking know where you're coming out of pocket with that sh*t. You should shut the fk up before you really start to piss me off.... Hey hey, I'm sorry bro, it was just a fking simple question..."

Ordinarily, eyebrows may not have been raised over Chet's vile, off-the-wall rant, given his alter ego as a sometime hard-core rapper (who formerly went by the stage name of Chet Haze). But after posting the video, Chet soon added a message that became more and more ominous as time passed. Shortly after midnight on July 23, he posted: "I'm not gonna be on Instagram for a while... Getting the fk out of Dodge for a min...Gonna go get my mind right. I'll be back!" Despite the closing claim,

TRACKED TO A TROUBLED TOWN

Two weeks after Chet disappeared following his cryptic, July 23 Instagram post (far left), a source claims his cell phone signal was tracked 120 miles away to the desert town of Barstow, which has often been called "the methamphetamine capital of California." Adds the source: "I've never heard of Chet messing with that stuff."

a source tells Star, "a month went by without a word from Chet — not even a single phone call to his family or friends. It's like he fell off the face of the Earth."

OFF THE WAGON

Chet had still not been heard from by press time — and given his longtime struggles with cocaine and alcohol addiction, the source adds, "there are legitimate fears for his well-being. Tom and Rita are trying to put on brave faces, but it's been difficult. No one wants to consider the worst-case scenario."

A WILD MAN BY ANY OTHER NAME

After recording and performing for years under the stage name Chet Haze, the wannabe rapper appeared to be trying to move in another direction, if his June 9 Twitter post was any indication. "Chet really does want to be taken seriously as an artist, but it hasn't really happened for him," says the source.

@CHETHAZE

Star exclusively reported Chet's drug and booze problems last November — and soon after, he admitted in a Twitter post that he had been to rehab for his destructive addictions. "I've been struggling with substance abuse since I was 16 years old," he revealed. "Finally, at the age of 24, I decided to get some help. With 50 days of sobriety under my belt, I can honestly say I'm the happiest

I've ever been." But Chet's happiness and sobriety were short lived, says the source — and his problems may have contributed to his disappearance. "Chet has been bummed that his career as a rapper hasn't taken off," the source tells Star. "He wants to be taken seriously, but being the son of Tom Hanks takes the edge off his street cred.

"He's had a lot more on his mind, as well — including his mom Rita's battle with breast cancer earlier this year, and his breakup with his girlfriend [10-yearsolder Love & Hip Hop Hollywood star Hazel E]. There's been a storm brewing inside Chet for quite some time."

TOM TAKES CHARGE

Initially, Chet's parents weren't overly alarmed by their lack of communication with their son, "given that he so often does his own thing," the source tells Star. "But by the time he had been gone one week without a word, obviously, their level of concern skyrocketed — and they began to consider their options."

Tom, 59, and Rita, 58, "both agreed that they didn't want to file an official missing persons report with the police, the better to try and keep the development out of the press," the source adds. "Tom obviously has a lot of contacts in the security industry, and through them, he hired a group of 'outside parties' to handle the situation — most likely a team of private investigators to track Chet down."

The source claims that after the team got the phone company involved, they made a shocking discovery: The last time Chet's cell phone signal was located was about two weeks into his disappearance, near Barstow, Calif. — one of the worst cities in the U.S. for the production and abuse of the dangerously addictive stimulant methamphetamine. "I've never known Chet to mess with crystal meth," says the source. "I shudder to think he's gotten involved with

"Chet has to get his life in order — and he may need more help doing it!"

— a source tells Star that horrible stuff. Hopefully, he was just passing through on his way to Las Vegas or somewhere."

WARNING SIGNS

It's not like Chet wasn't putting up any red flags in the months before his disappearance. As Star has reported, he got into a booze-fueled brawl with a number of bouncers at The Vault nightclub in L.A. last March, and in June, he allegedly trashed a hotel room in the London suburbs in a drunken rage.

"Chet had started acting really distant over the last month and a half before he went missing," adds the source. "He told me, 'There's too much going on in my head. I need to work on my life.' He even shaved his hair real close in early July and had it colored a weird yellowblond. He may be having a real identity crisis on top of everything else — which wouldn't surprise me, given that he's always rebuked the wealthy 'one-percent' lifestyle that his superstar dad lives.

"Chet's really a good guy, but he lost direction a while ago. He follows his heart, but sometimes it doesn't connect to his brain. I just hope and pray, for the sake of him and his family, that he's not lying in a ditch somewhere. The worst-case scenario is too horrible to even think about." *

TOO MUCH PARTYING OR CRIES FOR HELP?

Chet was involved in two wild incidents in the months before his disappearance, as Star reported. In March, an "out of it" and "wild-eyed" Chet got into a brawl with a group of bouncers at the L.A. nightclub The Vault. "He basically beat the crap out of all of them," an eyewitness told Star. "Then he cursed out the club's owner, who had come out of a back room to confront him, before literally walking backwards out of the club while shouting, 'I am the future of Hollywood! I'm done here!"

Three months later, while partying in England, Chet allegedly destroyed his room at the Arora Hotel in the London suburbs after downing champagne and vodka at a nearby club. A source claimed Chet went crazy after a woman he bought back from the venue refused to sleep with him, trashing his room to the tune of $1,800 in damages (Chet denied the report). The police were alerted after Chet left the hotel the following morning, and they later announced that they were "working with other agencies" to locate him for an interview.

HE indignities keep coming for the Duggar family. In May, eldest son Josh admitted to molesting four of his sisters and another underage girl, beginning in 2002. By July, the conservative reality clan saw their TLC show, 19 Kids and Counting, canceled. Now, just when things had quieted down, Star has learned that Josh — a married father of four — blew nearly $1,000 on notorious infidelity website Ashley Madison. Josh also kept a secret Facebook account under a fake name — and nearly all of his 32 friends were strippers and lingerie models.

"I have been the biggest hypocrite ever," Josh, 27, shared on the Duggar website in a desperate stab at damage control.

"While espousing faith and family values, I have secretly over the last several years been viewing pornography on the Internet, and this became a secret addiction and I became unfaithful to my wife."

Already backpedaling, Josh removed the mention of his porn addiction from his statement and hasn't admitted to an Ashley Madison membership or any affairs resulting from it. Yet despite the Duggars' contempt for it, divorce may be imminent for Josh and his long-suffering wife, Anna.

SORDID DATA, DIRTY DETAILS

"Life is short. Have an affair." That catchy slogan propelled the success of Ashley Madison, which launched in 2001 with the sole mission of helping spouses cheat. In July 2015, the site was hacked, and last month account details for some 40 million users were posted online. Among them was one Joshua J. Duggar, whose billing address matched that of a house often shown on 19 Kids... indeed, the very house where Anna gave birth to the couple's first child.

Two Ashley Madison accounts were associated with that name and address from February 2013 through May 2015 (total cost: $986.76). Ironically, they coincided with Josh's position as executive director of the Family Research Council, a lobbying group dedicated "to champion marriage and family as the foundation of civilization, the seedbed of virtue and the wellspring of society."

FISHING FOR AN AFFAIR

The Joshua J. Duggar who maintained two different Ashley Madison accounts was fairly traditional in his tastes and desires. The only thing kinky about his posts was that while he was seeking multiple cheating partners he was publicly preaching the sanctity of marriage!

THE FAMILY IS MORTIFIED

Considering that this is the second major sex scandal Josh has been tied to this year, the Duggars are reeling — the patriarch especially. "Jim Bob cannot bear the embarrassment of Josh being stupid enough to use a cheating site," says a source close to the family. "He is seriously considering cutting Josh off."

Unlike her husband, Michelle is defending their son. "Michelle suggested Anna could be in part to blame for maybe not performing her wifely duties up to par, causing Josh to stray," says the source.

Heartbroken and humiliated, "Anna cannot justify that he was probably unfaithful throughout their marriage," says a friend. "She refuses to sleep in the same room with Josh or even speak to him."

The Quiverfull movement — the conservative Christian contingent that the Duggars have been linked with — doesn't condone divorce, except in the case of consistent, unrepentant immorality. Although Josh's immorality Kylie Jenner's boyfriend, Tyga).

JAMES IS A PLAYER PLA

"James isn't doing anything wrong by dating these women, and how he chooses to spend his millions is his business. But he is by no means looking to settle down with Khloé, and she needs to realize that," explains the insider. "The last place she's going to find love is with James."

IGNORING THE SIGNS

Despite protests from her pals — and shockingly, her ex-husband, Lamar Odom — Khloé's feelings for the notorious womanizer continue to grow, day by day. As Star previously reported, Lamar became so outraged by her questionable choice of companion that he lost his cool when the two met up outside a Beverly Hills SoulCycle studio on Aug. 12.

"After everything they struggled with in their marriage, Lamar can't believe she'd be with someone who is known for being a playboy," says a pal. "He told her to open her eyes and said she was crazy for getting involved with James."

Even if Khloé, 31, chooses to ignore the warning signs, her friends fear it will only be a matter of time before she's confronted with the cold hard truth, now that James is back in Texas gearing up for the next basketball season. "Khloé has been setting aside weekends to fly down to Houston to take care of James while he's in training camp — she loves to play house — but that's not how he likes to unwind after work," reveals the insider. "He frequents a lot of dance and strip clubs."

In fact, two fans spotted the threetime NBA all-star partying with Drake at V-Live (a popular Houston gentleman's club) the night before the third game of the heated 2015 Western Conference Finals —which resulted in an uncharacteristically poor performance by the shooting guard. "When James gets a chance to let loose, he takes full advantage," adds the insider. "He made it clear he's not ready to settle down, and if that's what she's looking for, she's definitely got the wrong guy."

IN TOO DEEP

Though Khloé has always been eager to settle down and start a family, sources say she's so into James — and so sure she can convince him to be monogamous by the fall — that she's agreed to keep things casual. "It's eating her up inside!" exclaims the insider. "She stumbles upon these guys who are just in it for the short term, but she starts to catch real feelings for them."

Sadly, this isn't the first time Khloé has fallen for an emotionally unavailable man. As Star previously reported, in 2014 Khloé started dating rapper French Montana while he was still married to Nadeen Kharbouch. "I had no idea he was in relationship with Khloé," the scorned ex told Star at the time. "We were stuck in limbo trying to figure things out."

Sexy Coed:

"JAMES CHEATED ON KHLOÉ WITH ME!"

Student Rochelle Relf hates cheaters so much that she wants Khloé to know about her recent sexcapade with bad boy James Harden. "Khloé was with James in Hawaii, then he flew to Australia and spent the night with me," the 23-year-old stunner told Australian publication New Idea. "He was charming and affectionate — he asked me to visit him in America and told me he was a single guy." Though Rochelle says she never meant to hurt Khloé, she felt compelled to come forward so the reality star wouldn't waste any more time on the wayward womanizer. "He is Mr. Romantic and says what you want to hear," she added, "but he is in no way ready to be settling down, and it's no secret Khloé wants a family."

But friends worry the outcome between her and French may not have changed even if she had known about his two-timing ways. "Khloé knew there was no future for the two of them, but she enjoyed his company," says the insider. "She seeks any sort of attention she can get from men, whether it's healthy for her or not. She needs to stop pushing guys to become something they aren't and instead, find someone with the same values." *

AS KELLY ONCE A CUSTOE NEW REABOUT TOWAR HER CHI SHE'S BE HER OW

AS KELLY RUTHERFORD ONCE AGAIN TAKES HER CUSTODY BATTLE PUBLIC, NEW REVELATIONS ABOUT HER BEHAVIOR TOWARD HER EXES AND HER CHILDREN SUGGEST SHE'S BEEN PERPETUATING HER OWN ORDEAL.

HERSELF TOBLAME

SHE TRIED TO BLACKMAIL HER EX! first husband after only six months of marriage, upon learning that he suffered from an ultimately fatal heart condition.

A MATERNAL GATEKEEPER

Almost from the moment that Kelly and Daniel split, in 2009, she tried to prevent him from seeing his children particularly their daughter, who was born after they separated. "Kelly withheld news of Helena's birth from Daniel and denied Daniel the right to be present at the hospital," California Superior Court Judge Teresa A. Beaudet stated in the 52-page court decision — largely ignored by the media — that originally ordered Kelly's kids to live with their father in Monaco. The actress then refused to put Daniel's name on Helena's birth certificate for three years, though she told a custody evaluator that she had. The reason, Kelly later admitted in court, was "because she was hurt, rather than out of any concern for Helena.'

"Kelly's failure to put Daniel on Helena's birth certificate is reflective of her general reluctance to facilitate the children's relationship with their father," the judge wrote. That reluctance also manifested in her hiring private investigators to follow Daniel, and claiming — with no substantiation — that her ex was an arms and drug dealer, and homicidal.

"Ms. Rutherford has engaged in conduct intended to interfere with Mr. Giersch's relationship with the children," testified another custody evaluator. Both court-appointed evaluators found Kelly guilty of "maternal gatekeeping," with one noting that "all safety concerns raised by Kelly were red herrings."

Conversely, the court found that Daniel demonstrated a "consistent record of cooperation and of facilitating the children's relationship with their mother, in contrast with Kelly's conduct."
The evaluators acknowledged that Daniel kept pictures of Kelly in his home; was "proactive" about communicating with his ex, even sending her photos and videos of the kids; she'd also bought Helena a birthday present "from mom" — the biggest one she received that year.

But those concerns about Kelly's behavior paled in comparison to what transpired during the custody trial.

PLAYING DIRTY

According to court findings, Kelly's counsel, Matthew Rich, approached Daniel in a courthouse hallway on Dec. 12, 2011, as Kelly sat on a nearby bench. German citizen Daniel had just had his U.S. visa extended for a year, but Rich held a cell phone in front of him, claiming he had the State Department on the line. "He's lied and said he has a valid visa; he's about to kidnap the kids," the lawyer said into the phone. "Why aren't you arresting him?... Come and arrest him right now."

Rich then handed Daniel's lawyer a legal document, explaining that he could make the "problem" with the State Department disappear if Daniel signed away his rights to visit his children "until further order of the court." "Kelly was sitting next to where Mr. Rich was standing when he said this; she did not stop Mr. Rich," the court document notes.

The plan to coerce Daniel into surrendering his visitation rights under threat of arrest and deportation backfired spectacularly. Daniel refused to sign the document — and, ostensibly because of Rich's allegations and contact with the State Department, his visa was revoked. And it was for that very reason that the court determined the only way the parents could share custody was if the kids lived with Daniel in Monaco.

THE COURT CASE

Kelly has vowed to continue her fight to bring her children back to the United States where they already spend their summers — but the decision to send Hermes and Helena to Monaco in the first place (see right) was the result of her lawyer's attempts to blackmail Daniel and her proven record of attempting to soil Daniel's relationships with his children.

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

FOR THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES

In re Marriage of

Petitioner: DANIEL GIERSCH

and

Respondent: KELLY GIERSCH

STATEMENT OF DECISION

CASE NO. SD 026 864

(Cal. Rule of Court, Rule 3.1590)

Trial/Hearing re: Jurisdiction and Custody: [Hon. Teresa A. Beaudet, Dept. 59]

 Both Dr. Strachan and Dr. Aloia found signs of maternal gate keeping on the part of Kelly. As early as 2009, in Dr. Strachan's evaluation, be found that all safety concerns raised by Kelly were red herrings.

- When Mr. Rich approached Daniel and his coursel in the courthouse hallway on December 12, 2011, and told them he had the State Department on the line and urged that Daniel be arrested. Kelly was sitting on a bench close to where Daniel and counsel were standing. She did not stop Mr. Rich from making the call asking that Daniel be arrested.

After careful review of all the evidence and testimony in this case, the Court finds that there is clear and convincing evidence that Daniel has facilitated the children's relationship with Kelly, particularly in the most recent years, and that Kelly has not facilitated the children's relationship with Daniel. The Court finds that the France Plan is in the best interest of the children for this additional reason.

A LOST CAUSE?

On Sept. 3, Kelly will appear before a court yet again — this time in Monaco — in another attempt to have Hermes and Helena ordered back to the United States. But so far, every judge who has reviewed the case has rejected her appeals. Most recently, and perhaps most ironically, she pleaded for the State Department — the same organization she had attempted to use in her efforts to force Daniel to sign away his visitation rights — to help her kids remain in America. She was ignored.

"Kelly doesn't really care if she has no case. To her, this is a war, and she's the hero fighting for her kids," says an insider. "But it's not really about her children's needs. It's about what Kelly wants...and judges see that right away."

DID KELLY ABANDON HUSBAND NO. 1?

ONG before Kelly's international custody saga began, and even before she said "I do" to Daniel Giersch, she was involved in another brief marriage, which ended in tragedy. In June 2001, Kelly played the happy bride as she wed her first husband.

Venezuelan banker Carlos Tarajano, after an eight-month romance. Their fairy-tale nuptials were even filmed for an In Style Celebrity Weddings special. But shortly after the couple tied the knot, Carlos suffered a cardiac arrest — later determined to stem from a heart condition known as arrhythmogenic right ventricular dysplasia. Though he survived, it was the first serious test of their marriage, which soon unraveled like a Lifetime movie plot.

"Carlos had this heart problem in October, and she was with him until December," a member of Carlos' family tells Star exclusively. "Then she abandoned him. We never saw her again."

Carlos recovered briefly, but Kelly had already filed for divorce. A few weeks after she filed, he died.

Even today, Carlos' family is shocked that Kelly would leave her sick husband so abruptly. "He was an amazing and unique human being," the relative recalls. "It was hard for us. I don't know if it was her way to deal with crisis. From this side of the family, we all [thought] she was nice. I guess we didn't know her enough."

Interestingly, not long after Kelly left him, Carlos learned that In Style was still planning to feature them on its wedding show. When he called the magazine to complain, he was told that Kelly had insisted that their marriage was going well.

"If it had been the other way around, I would never have left her side," Carlos said shortly before he passed away. "I promised in front of God to stay with her until death do us part."

→ LEARNING TO DRIVE

Wendy (Patricia Clarkson) is a book critic in New York City who ends up forging an unexpected friendship with a Sikh driving instructor, Darwan (Ben Kingsley), following her divorce. Dumped by her husband, Wendy decides to take driving lessons so she can visit her daughter upstate.

Darwan, meanwhile, is a naturalized citizen who still suffers indignities from police and others because his religion requires him to wear both a beard and a turban. The unlikely pair learn lessons about life through their interaction in the car. Based on a true story, this film has wonderful humor and real drama as each of these characters moves through uncharted territory, thanks to the other. Darwan shows Wendy how to get on with her life without fear; she teaches him how to open up to the bride he has wed (Sarita Choudhury) in an arranged marriage. It's a small, warm film that will both amuse and move you.

⇒ZIPPER

In this overwrought drama, Patrick Wilson plays a crusading DA in South Carolina who has a steely political wife (Lena Headey) and is being groomed to run for a soon-to-open Congressional seat. But he's developed an addiction to high-end escorts. Even as he's sending people to jail, he's cruising escort websites, trying to connect with one girl who has quickly become his favorite. As the media begins to zero in on him as a candidate, he can't stop jeopardizing his future by running to the shadows for hookups. Wilson and Headey are fine, but they're trapped in a story laughable than cautionary. It feels like it was assembled from a kit, minus any drama — or dramatic sense.

LONG STORY SHORT: A potboiler that leaves a mess. * ACACA

→ GRANDMA

Lily Tomlin stars in this comic drama as Elle, a hippyish writer and professor who has just broken up with her latest girlfriend (Judy Greer). That's when her granddaughter, Sage (Julia Garner), shows up on her doorstep and announces that not only is she unexpectedly pregnant, but she needs $600 by sundown for an abortion. So the two generations of women hit the road to find people from Elle's past who might be able to lend them the money. But it's really a journey of discovery for both characters, who learn things about themselves and each other, as well as about the nature of family. As Sage's mother, a demanding attorney who disapproves of her own mother's lifestyle, Marcia Gay Harden goes toe-to-toe with Tomlin. But this is really about the wonderful duet between Tomlin (still great in her mid-70s) and Garner, who have the chemistry of people who share a family history.

LONG STORY SHORT: Tomlin is still a priceless performer.

"To you it's the perfect lift chair... to me it's the perfect circulation chair!"

Our super-comfortable reclining lift chair lets gravity do the work, putting your feet above your heart to improve your circulation and overall well-being.

It's a fact: circulation issues can cause a variety of dangerous health issues. As we age and become less active, these issues can get worse. Several conditions can lead to poor circulation—the most common causes include obesity, diabetes, heart conditions and arterial problems. The heart has to work harder to circulate blood throughout our bodies, and gravity doesn't help- since the blood has to go "uphill". One of the best ways to alleviate this problem is to elevate your lower extremities, so that your feet are above your heart. Now, there is a reclining lift chair that can put you safely in this position. It's called the Perfect Lift Chair™ and there's no other chair like it.

"I looked in the mirror and thought, Who is this person?"

Delving into the taboo subject of thinning hair in women

37-year-old Christina's began thinning, shocked. She always had beautiful, thick, luscious hair, and to experience severely thinning hair was completely devastating. Christina says, "I was on a mission. I spent hours researching vitamins, minerals, different products."

"First, let me just say I'm MORE than thoroughly impressed with Viviscal®. Everywhere I go I'm informing anyone who looks like they may benefit from my little treasured secret. It's an amazing product that saved me from hating the way I looked and from feeling unbelievably self-conscious."

Before Treatment

"We recently conducted a double-blind, placebocontrolled clinical trial on Viviscal supplements practice, the Ablon Skin Institute Angeles. The results of clinical trial dramatically successful.

Combined with Biotin, Zinc and Vitamin C derived from Acerola Cherry, these essential ingredients nourish hair and promote existing hair growth* from within. Viviscal is grounded in 25 years of continuous research and development. The efficacy of Viviscal is supported by published clinical trials. A recent study demonstrated a significant increase in hair thickness and a significant decrease in hair shedding. Viviscal recommends taking two tablets per day for a minimum of three to six months.

SPOOKY SPECTRE!

Takes It To 11

Outspoken billionaire and presidential candidate Donald Trump has gotten a lot of flak for some of his recent statements, but perhaps his most controversial was saying that supermodel turned America's Got Talent judge Heidi Klum was no longer a 10! But Heidi took the comment with good humor, Instagramming a video of herself getting downgraded by a Trump stand-in from a 10 to a 9.99.

Didn't your mother teach you any manners? Kim and Kourtney Kardashian were glued to their phones during dinner in St. Barts, leaving poor momager Kris Jenner with nothing to do but knock back a martini or two.

Before she started selling out stadiums, Taylor Swift was just a girl with a guitar singing her heart out in front of a bridge. "Getting ready to play 5 shows at Staples Center in LA this week and reminiscing about what my gigs used to be like," the "Shake It Off" singer wrote on Instagram.
